Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Mr. Phelps Appeal to the People of Vermont, in Vindication of Himself: Against the Charges Made Against Him Upon the Occasion of His Re-Election to the Senate of the United States, in Relation to His Course as a Senator As a public servant invested by you with a highly important and responsible public trust, I entertain a high sense of my accountability to you for the manner in which that trust is discharged; and I feel bound on all proper occasions to vindicate my public course whenever and wherever it may be questioned. It is now nearly fourteen years that I have been honored by your confidence, seven of which were spent in the responsible station of a Judge of your highest judicial tribunal, and more than six in the highest office in your gift, that of your representative in the Senate of the United States. Nor is this all. By my recent re-election to that post you have expressed your continued confidence in me, and conferred upon me for six years to come the responsibilities of that high station. Under these circumstances, my character as a public man becomes public property, and if It be assailed it is due to you as well as to myself that it be vindicated. Further apology for this appeal I deem unnecessary. The occurrences of the last fall, upon the occasion of my re-election to the Senate, must be fresh in the recollection of all who witnessed them. The attacks upon my character both public and private made too deep an impression and elicited too much feeling to be readily forgotten. Possibly it may be thought that I...
