Excerpt: . has never since that time been any serious trouble in handling the discipline of the knit-shop; although under the old system they used to have as high as ten or twelve cases of punishment a day, and many serious and bloody assaults. On the Sunday following my taking office, for the first time within the memory of man, there was not a single prisoner under punishment; since that time the dark cells have been entirely discontinued; no one has been confined on bread and water; and for 13 months, while there were a few men confined from time to time for observation, there were only 24 men officially punished. Order and discipline have been maintained by the officers of the League; and suspension of the League privileges has proved to be the only punishment necessary. As proof of this remarkable condition of affairs, take the following figures: In the seven years, previous to the prison fiscal year ending September 30th, 1915, there had never been less than four escapes and as high as 19; the average for the seven years being 9-f. In 1915 there were only three; less than of the average. Taking up the matter of labor, we find it difficult to compare one year with another, owing to the shifting conditions and paucity of records. In the shoe-shop, however, we can get a fair index of the spirit of the men as evidenced by their work. The following figures speak...
