Excerpt: .high as one-sixth of all the children who undergo it. Still, no one doubts that first dentition is frequently a period of great danger to the infant. It therefore becomes very important for the mother to know how the dangers and difficulties of teething can in any degree be diminished, or, if possible, altogether prevented. I shall consider, first, the management of the infant when teething is accomplished without difficulty;--and, secondly, the management of the infant when it is attended with difficulty. 1. The management of the infant when teething is without difficulty.--In the child of a healthy constitution, which has been properly, that is, naturally fed upon the milk of its mother alone, the symptoms attending teething will be of the mildest kind, and the management of the infant most simple and easy. There will be an increased flow of saliva, with...
