Finally, mention must be made here of another Middle-Class School, the plan for which existed as early as 1862, therefore before the introduction of the Law, but which was not opened till that period, namely the Twente Industrial and Commercial School at Enschede. The plan was projected by the Twente-Association for the Promotion of Industry and Commerce. The rather considerable capital for erecting the requisite buildings and purchasing the school-appliances, was got together by certain individuals and Societies. The State and the Commune have granted annual subsidies. As the curriculum of this school corresponds almost entirely 8 with that of the subsequently founded Higher Burgher-schools with a five years curriculum, it is not necessary to mention it here separately, but it may be included among those established by virtue of the Law of 1863. B. State of matters from 1863 to 1874. a. Number and Specification of Higher Burgher-schools. The first Higher Burgher-schools were opened in the commencement of the school-year 1864/65. In 1864 the Government Schools at Groningen and Eoermond, and the subsidized Communal Schools at Zutphen, Leyden, Delft, Haarlem, Sneek, Deventer, and Maastricht were opened; in January 1865 the nonsubsidized Communal School at the Hague, and in February 1865 the Government School at Middelburgh; the Private Establishment at Enschede had already been opened in 1863. In the beginning of the school-year 1865/66 the Government School at Gouda was opened, and the Communal Schools at Nymegen, Eotterdam, Dordrecht, Amsterdam, Goes,...
